WomanyHealth enables the collection of comprehensive patient data in a privacy preserving manner, ensuring security, and placing the patient in full control. Patients themselves contribute directly to their health information. The platform supports next generation electronic patient health records for the provision of digital healthcare and precision, individual, AI based healthcare services.

Approach

- Digital health services encompassing medical conditions, procedures, and medications including side effects and dosage.
- Supports data ingestion to create a unified health record and data governance to store, manage, share, find and use data critical for the implementation of AI in healthcare.
- Example programmes include deployment with individuals, care providers, and across government and industry.
